Guidelines for extended abstracts

The extended abstract should not exceed 1500 words. Given below is the general outline.

- Introduction: Maximum of 350 words
- Materials and Methods: Maximum of 350 words
- Results, Discussions & Conclusions: Maximum of 800 words
- References: Maximum of 5 key references could be included [References should be given in ‘Harvard format”]
- Introduction Author(s) should present the nature of the problem addressed by the study and position the work in the broader context of the field of study. Background material important for understanding the nature and impact of the study should be presented and appropriately referenced.

- Materials and Methods

This section should include the experimental materials, sampling procedures, experimental methods, experimental design and number of replicates and statistical methods adopted. Standard protocols should not be described in detail.

- Results, Discussion, Conclusion and Recommendations

This section should include the results of the experiments and extensive interpretation of the results. Present the results as concisely as possible. The findings should be discussed in relation to previously published work where appropriate and to the experimental system at hand and should not contain extensive repetition of the results or reiteration of the introduction. If it is relevant, conclusions and recommendations can be given. Use minimum number of Table and Figures in this section within the limitation of two A4 pages.

- Tables should be positioned in the relevant place in the text and prepared using MS word "Table format". Do not use "tabs" or any graphics software to create tables. • Figures should be positioned in the text and should be of high quality. Digital versions of Figures, preferably in JPEG or TIFF format should be sent separately. Figures should be presented with appropriate SD or SE values 3
- Authors should submit the electronic version of their abstracts and extended abstracts to the following e mail address: icda@univ.jfn.ac.lk. Please indicate the subject of the email as ICDA-2019 abstract.
- An Author Declaration Form giving the information on corresponding author and coauthors (if any) and preferred theme for submission should also be e-mailed as an attachment along with the abstract.
- An acknowledgement will be sent to the corresponding author by e-mail (or by regular mail, if necessary) once the extended abstract and author declaration forms are received by the ICDA-2019 secretariat. Papers submitted without author declaration form will not be considered.
